Industry Expertise

“The experience and industry know-how of the associates at J. J. Keller is very important to me. When I call with a problem, I count on them to understand what I’m trying to solve. With their history in safety and compliance, they know what challenges my industry is facing and are ready with a reliable solution for me.”

“What sets J. J. Keller apart from other companies is that they’ve taken the time to get to know me and my business. They’re like a business partner committed to my company’s success for the long haul.”

Product Selection And Quality

“J. J. Keller’s product selection is awesome. My company has 39 locations from Florida to California, and it saves time and money to get our safety and compliance needs fulfilled from one source. There are so many product choices that I always find what I’m looking for, with no guesswork. Getting the right product the first time means that I don’t have to go through the hassle of returning an item, then waiting for a replacement. And J. J. Keller products always perform.”

“When I place an order with a J. J. Keller customer service rep, it isn’t like talking to a salesperson. I feel like I’m speaking to someone who’s helping me find a solution to a challenge I’m facing, rather than just selling me something.”
