NOTE: Effective December 23, 1994, the federal DOT eliminated the written exam requirement. Motor carriers may continue to administer a written exam as part of their training program.

INSTRUCTIONS All of the questions are based on the United States Department of Transportation’s Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations.

Each question has four answers but only one is right. Your job is to read all of the answers and then to pick the one answer you believe is right. Mark an “X” in the space next to the answer you choose. Do not pick more than one answer for each question.

Here is a sample question to show you what is to be done:

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations were written for:
1. □ vehicle makers
2. □ drivers only
3. □ carriers only
4. □ drivers and carriers

The right answer is number 4, “drivers and carriers,” so you would mark an “X” in the space next to answer number 4.

Finally, be sure to answer every question and do not skip any pages. Keep in mind that most of the regulations covered here apply to commercial bus and truck drivers and are different from what is required of passenger car drivers. Again, pick only one answer for each question. There is no time limit on the examination, but try to work as fast as you can.
